THE STORY OF MEFISTO

The buildings at Volden 18, 20 and 28 which house Mefisto date back to around 1875, and Mefisto was established in 1995 in no. 28. Before Mefisto, the buildings were home to the colourful bars Karrusellen ('The Carousel') in no. 28 and Gyngen ('The Swing').

Mefisto is the demonic figure in Goethe's tragic play Faust but already from the 16th century, Mephistopheles appears as the name of the devil in German folklore. The close proximity to Aarhus Theatre is one of the reasons why Mefisto was used as the name of the restaurant.

Mefisto's lobster and the murals in Bar No. 18 were created by the Danish artist Søren Behncke also known as Papfar ('cardboard dad').
